

The BUP weekly

Week 5, 2022

Dear BUP colleagues,

February is here and the semester is at full swing. This week we have opened nominations for the annual BUP PhD award, while preparing the upcoming student activities in late spring and summer.

We are also working on our new BUP online platform and is therefore looking for university teachers that would like to contribute with online lectures. So if you wish to contribute with a lecture on one of our themes, contact us and we will pair your research presentation with one of our ongoing courses. This week we are pushing a little extra for the theme Sustainable Tourism. So if you are an expert on the topic and wish to contribute with a lecture, contact us!

With best regards,

The Baltic University Programme's coordinating secretariat
